Changshu is located in the water town of Jiangnan(Southern regions of the Yangtze River) and is known as the "blessed paradise of Southern China". As a national historical and cultural city, it is also one of the birthplaces of the Wu culture. As one of China's ecological cities, it has a great green ecological landscape, which continues the unique temperament and cultural connotation of the Jiangnan culture.In the wave of the development of the times, the designer tried to use the modern design language to interpret the spirit of the city and create a sense of the urban neighborhood and make it become the first display of the community spirit.
